

Thousands Crowded Into Antioch For Maxwell Street Bargains

Crowds estimated from 5,000 to 10,000 a day crowded into Antioch's business district on Maxwell Street Days Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Starting early the throngs of shoppers milled into Antioch, "The Hub of the Lake Region" from near by towns and lakes, to make one of the most successful shopping programs ever to have been staged in this town.

Unique feature of the event was the sale of merchandise on the streets in the downtown section. A manner of sale which not only proves popular to the shoppers but is enjoyed very much.

Merchants report, they have seen nothing like it, their only objection being an underestimate of the interest shown by the shoppers of the Lake Region.

Delivery service men reported the shopping throng was so heavy they were hardly able to get through Antioch streets and shoppers reported with some dismay that "it was hard to get waited on."

The annual Maxwell Street Days are a yearly event sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the committee were Lew Simon, chairman; Stan Toton, George Hahn and Ray Jensen. John Rorer is president of the Chamber of Commerce.

National Journal Praises Work of Lake Villa Doctor

Medical Tribune, a national publication, gives recognition to the work of Dr. Calvin P. Midgley, Lake Villa, in the August 1st issue.

Under the caption "A Small-Town Doctor, in the Big City Shows Chemistry Can Be Interesting" and accompanied by a full spread of pictures, the publication tells of the good work being done by the local doctor.

An excerpt from the article follows:

"Most of the time, Dr. Calvin P. Midgley serves the village of Lake Villa, Ill., (population 824) as a general practitioner. Once a week, though, he heads down the road to Chicago, where he teaches chemistry at Mundelein College. His class is required for all education majors. And, occasionally, Dr. Midgley refreshes himself by teaching a class of grade school children, for whom he has written a book, Chemistry for Kids. 'If Russians can introduce chemistry at the third-grade level with advantageous results, certainly American children can be

Diane Mlodzinski Is Crowned Miss Lake Region; Affair Is A Great For Antioch

Fair weather and a happy throng of people contributed to the most successful Lions Club Bar-B-Q Dinner and the crowning of Miss Lake Region Jaycees at the Antioch Pool area Sunday afternoon.

"It was the greatest affair yet," said Joe Patrovsky, chairman of the dinner. "We served more than 1600 dinners and handled them all pretty well. We ran out of chicken, couldn't cook 'em fast enough, but it went off very well," he added.

The biggest event of the weekend affairs was the crowning of Diane Mlodzinski, Miss Lake Region. Diane was chosen as the Lake Region's loveliest from a group of 22 contestants. The final selection being made from five charming local girls.

The four runners-up were Joni Lang, Pam Hagstrom, Dorothy Sarbacker and Janice Prather.

The girls appeared in bathing suits and formals and were introduced by Gary Richter who was MC for the occasion. Diane, whose talent was singing, was sponsored by Johnson's Resort.

The Jaycees and the Lions Club of Antioch collaborated in the weekend celebration with a program being sponsored at the high school, which ended with a schedule of events at the pool area on Sunday afternoon and evening.

A big event of Sunday afternoon was a parade down Main street from the high school to the pool. Led by a crack Chicago band the parade attracted hundreds and more than 2000 persons were in attendance at the pool area.

Committee for the barbecue was Joe Patrovsky, Leonard Roblin, Chuck Larson, and Tom Griffin.

The full Lion's Club committee for the event was as follows: Chairman, Edward Ring; Director, Harold Wilson; M. C., Gary Richter; Stage hands, Vernon Burdick, Donald Poulter, Roger Plechaty, Ron Kauffman, John Edler, Al Benning, Jack Christiansen, Ron Anderson, and William Wolfenbarger.

Year-Round Schools

The problem of getting enough money to keep up and improve our schools is always with us. Taxpayers are becoming more and more reluctant to vote money for needed expansions and costs. Everyone's looking for a new source of revenue as real estate taxes climb steadily.

Some economists are pushing an eleven-month school year as a solution. The eleven months would be divided into four quarters, and each pupil required to attend three quarters a year.

It's estimated that this system would shave the need for more space—only three out of four children would be in school at one time. It would reduce teaching staffs by 25 per cent, it is estimated.

It is rather ridiculous to have an expensive plant as a modern school lying practically idle for three months of the year. Summer school uses only a small portion of the facilities, and many teachers turn to other lines of work for the summer months.

Though many teachers may not like the idea, it seems certain that something of the sort will have to be done. Any move toward economy in our school systems that is possible, while still providing a good education for a growing population, should be seriously considered.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DURKIN

You can raise your son to be President if you want to, but there is a lot to be said for directing him along the path of a good quarterback. Even if the recent announcement that John Brodie, young quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, will be paid just under $1,000,000 for four years of football is exaggerated slightly the final amount bids well to be a record payoff. . . . Not even a President can pile up that kind of loot. . . . Now that the corn is getting up near buttering size we can look forward to the announcement on Elmer Wolff's annual corn roast for Republican politicians. Ed Nash, perennial champion of the corn eaters, is in training for the event and looking a little wan as he diets to build up a big hunger. . . . Speaking of political outings, Paul Serdar, the Wadsworth, mink rancher is planning an old-fashioned barbecue and says he is planning to "kill the fatter calf" for party prodigals. He is also planning a side order of crow for those who guessed wrong in the recent primaries. . . . Maybe we have been traveling in the right circles, but we heard few off-color or snide remarks in connection with the recent wedding in Washington. There were a few tart remarks in some columns, but in general people were extremely kind to Pat-Nugent and Luci Johnson during a trying period. The fact the young couple were able to keep their heads and avoid bad publicity is certainly to their credit. . . .

The next session of the Illinois General Assembly could well be the most important in which State Senator Robert Coulson has served since his initial appearance as a State Representative. Sen. Coulson will be in Springfield in a dual role, as a legislator and as a member of the State Central Committee. If he can project himself into a position of solid leadership in the Senate and in the party councils he just might be the man to follow in the footsteps of Sen. Everett Dirksen. . . .

County Board Chairman Red Murrie has had a cake-walk thus far in his administration, but there are increasing signs that the truce is an uneasy one. An all-out assault on the new budget which will be presented by chairman Murrie's Finance Committee later this year could well be the test of strength that will determine the comparative clout of the opposing board factions. . . . One shudders to contemplate how far behind schedule the contractors on the new courthouse would be if Lake County had had a severe winter last year. Mild weather that lasted up to Christmas enabled the steel workers to push ahead with their work and there has been little rain this summer to delay work on the project. . . . Rumors persist that the contractor is in trouble, but he certainly can't blame it on the weather if this is true. . . . Candidates for judicial nominations are finding it hard to arouse interest in the judicial conventions, but this is hardly surprising. The average voter has no control over the selection of judicial candidates because the selection has been taken "out of politics" and placed in the hands of precinct committeemen. The direct or open primary may leave something to be desired as a method of selecting people to serve on the bench, but the present system is certainly no improvement. It seems that if the people can be trusted to elect the aldermen, state legislators, and Congressmen who enact the laws they should be able to pick their own judges. . . .

Nominations through delegate pressure seems like little improvement over nomination by the electorate. . . . Judicial candidates who are opposing Atty. Richard Barstow, of Waukegan, must feel a little like a fighter who knows the referee has bet on his opponent now that GOP Central Committee Chairman Robert McClory is on Cong. Robert McClory's payroll. Milton, of course, will be in charge of the Republican judicial convention and it is not entirely impossible that he can use this position to further Barstow's candidacy. Of course a similar condition can prevail in court if the attorney on one side served as a delegate to the convention and placed the name of the presiding judge in nomination while the opposing attorney nominated a loser. . . .

Plan your vacation trip to allow time for a break from driving every two hours. Make sure you can do most of your driving in the day-time. Remember darkness increases driving hazards at all times and especially in strange surroundings.

Your Congressman Reports....

By Cong. Robert McClory

A popular and worthwhile part of our foreign policy is the Peace Corps School-to-School program under which American schools and various private organizations sponsor the construction of elementary schools in the underdeveloped nations.

The Peace Corps serves as the coordinating agency of this program, with a Peace Corps Volunteer in the foreign community determining that the town needs a school, that the people themselves are willing to build it and that the money will be well spent. The host community supplies the land, some of the materials, at least 25 per cent of the funds and a teacher.

School-to-School partnerships in the 12th District have been formed by Deerfield High School; the North Shore Inter-Faith Committee Highland Park; and the Elm Place School, Highland Park.

The North Shore Inter-Faith Youth Committee raised $119 by holding a benefit dance. This money was combined with a donation from a high school in Rochester, New York, to construct a roof on a new intermediate school for the 380 elementary students of Rapogi, Kenya. Previously the children of Rapogi had studied in an old cow shed, built of mud, which was destroyed by a heavy wind last year. In a letter to the Youth Committee, the Peace Corps Volunteer on the scene reported that the people of Rapogi had donated part of their meager income to the school project and that the children had carried heavy stones from their homes for the foundation of the school.

The Eighth Grade class at Elm Place School put on their own production of "Babes in Toyland" to earn $550 for their project. The money is going to build a two-room school in Mogotes, Colombia. Meanwhile, the people of Mogotes have held a bazaar to raise money, have leveled a lot, and put in a stone foundation. Peace Corps Volunteer Dennis Riker has told Mr. Peter Roknich, Principal of Elm Place School: "The people realize the need for a school and are eager and willing to work for it. Without Elm Place School's assistance, however, the project even at this stage could not have been a reality."

When the Deerfield High School Student Council suggested a drive for funds to build a new school overseas, the response of the students was tremendous. More than $200 was collected the first day. Various class projects, such as a car wash and an empty bottle drive, resulted in the raising of over $2600. Thus 1900 suburban teenagers made possible a school in Sasstown, Liberia, where 730 students had only a house for a school before, and another in Timbauba, Brazil, where previously over 100 children had only a one-room school. In both towns Peace Corps Volunteers report that community spirit is high and that the people are working hard to finish their new schools.

The School-to-School partnerships are of great value to the American students and schools, as well as to the children in the developing nations. Through this program, American children can become better acquainted with the people of the world in which they will live as adults. According to President Johnson: "It is a program unique in government because it allows individuals—particularly American youth—to directly participate in solving a major world problem at its most meaningful level—on a people-to-people basis."

This program of self-help and private initiative is only about 2½ years old, but already 60 new school facilities in some 24 developing countries have been established. An additional 90 schools are under way, and over 2500 let-

Marvin Pullen in Korea

We are the boys of Korea
Earning the measly pay
Guarding the folks with millions
For three and a half a day
High on a windswept mountain
Korea is the spot
Fighting the Horse-Cart odors
In the land that God forgot
Out on the guns for hours
Eating and drinking the dust
Doing the work of a chain-gang
Too damned tired to cuss
Out with the lice and lizards
Here where the boys get blue
High on the windswept mountain
Ten thousand miles from you
No one cares if we live or die
No one give a damn
Where we are, we're forgotten
All the troubles we have had
Of the worst I cannot tell
I hope it is nice in Heaven
For I know what it's like in Hell
When this life is over
When we shoot no more
We will do our final dress parade
Upon the golden shore
Then St. Peter he will greet us
And suddenly he will yell
"Come in Boys of Korea
You've served your time in Hell!"

The End.

ALONG THE WAY with Annie Mae

Excitement

The past weekend added up to nothing but excitement; starting with the successful Maxwell Street Days, then the Jaycee-Pagant Talent Contest, the Killy Band Parade, the Lions Chicken, Chicken, and more Chicken Bar-B-Q, and the crowning of Miss Lake Region as the finale. Although the weather wasn't too much in our favor Sunday, that didn't seem to dampen the spirits of the crowd.

Congratulations and Good Luck

To Miss Johnson's Resort, Diane Mlodzinski on her recent crowning as Miss Lake Region. She certainly has a lovely voice.

This Little Piggy Went to Market

They really didn't go to market, but they did get a greased job and entered into a greased pig contest Sunday. There were many contestants but I have to give Carl C. Seemann a pat on the back for the good old college try. I'm surprised that more businessmen didn't have a go at it.

Out-of-Towners

I saw a few familiar faces attending our weekend festivities. They were Allen and Diane Masopust and family and the Dave and Ann Buck family.

Welcome

A special word of welcome to our new Doctor and his six children. He is Dr. Lorange who will be associated with Dr. Abderholden.

Moms and Dads

I got a phone call telling me that not all our shoe stores are raising their prices from students, schools and private organizations in the United States expressing interest in the program have been received by the Peace Corps. Many more American schools and American school children could benefit, and at the same time make a meaningful contribution to the people of the underdeveloped world, by joining the School-to-School program.

The three 12th District projects were all begun this spring, and already tangible evidence of success is available. A youth group in Highland Park, a student body in Deerfield, and an eighth grade class in Highland Park have brought a sense of pride and an opportunity for improvement to two towns in South America and two in Africa. But just as important are the sentiments of one eighth grader: "Recognizing our position in the world as junior citizens of today and leaders of tomorrow, we are interested in helping the less fortunate people of the world to help themselves. We have learned the importance of education and wish to spread this opportunity."

The anti-gun people are sure taking advantage of all the fuss stirred up by the Texas killings, even though many of their arguments won't hold water.

Much current support for the Dadds gun bill now before Congress is based on the false idea that a federal gun control law would have prevented the Texas murders. This is not true. No gun law ever proposed would have done so—except a law that took ALL guns away from ALL people.

Whitman was a good guy until he cracked up, an exemplary person. He would have had no trouble getting the guns he had, even under the Dadds bill. His guns were all legal when he bought them, although he may have illegally altered some of them so they'd fit into the foot locker.

His actions were entirely those of a deranged person and all the laws in the world won't keep people from going crazy. And unless we take all guns away from EVERYBODY, we cannot be safe from the sort of things he did.

The Dadds bill is bad because it legislates against gun ownership and HOW guns are obtained, rather than against their ILLEGAL USE. No honest citizen wants to ask city hall for a permit. At the same time no crook gives a hoot if his gun is legal or not, simply because the penalty for his crime is always a lot more harsh than the penalty for his using an illegal gun to commit it with.

If we must have a new gun law, let's pass one that would make the penalty much more severe for the ILLEGAL USE of firearms. With the crime rate going up so much faster than population (and with 8 persons killed in Chicago in one night in their own home by one man) it seems that Congress should encourage gun ownership and legal use by honest citizens, rather than adopting measures that tend to discourage them.

New York has had a most severe gun law for years based on possession, not on USE, yet they have more horrible crimes all the time. One reason is that New York crooks KNOW that most citizens are unarmed and unable to defend themselves.

Criminals will always have guns or other lethal weapons. The Dadds bill and similar proposals tend to disarm the honest citizen.

We'd better urge our Congressmen to oppose all such laws. Either that or sharpen up our butcher knives and put a ball bat by the door and under the bed.

Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

During August, it's as easy as owning a Bel Air 4-Door Sedan as getting in the car.

Wait till you see how sporty you look sitting in your Impala Super Sport.

In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.
2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money—another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.
3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.
4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.
5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.
6. Make your summer driving safer driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts, back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.

Freakish Weather In May, 1966

The month of May 1966 will go down in the records as one in which Mother Nature "threw the book" at Illinois gardeners, nurserymen and all persons interested in the welfare of flowers, shrubs, trees and evergreens.

First came the excessive rains, discouraging work in fields and encouraging weeds. Flooding was severe in places.

Adding insult to injury was a freak storm on the 11th that deposited as much as three inches of snow in some parts of Illinois.

Trees that were considerably leafed out seemed to resist injury by the abnormally late freezes. Damage to many plants was obvious immediately; to others, evidence will not be manifested till later.

New Revenue Article To Be On Blue Ballot For November

Support is growing for the new Revenue Article, to be submitted to Illinois voters on the Blue Ballot at the November 8 general election.

William J. Crowley, chairman of the statewide citizens committee working for modernization of the state's revenue system announced endorsement by the Illinois Bankers Association, Illinois Conference of Teamsters, Illinois Association of School Administrators and Illinois Division of the American Association of University Women. Crowley is executive vice-president of Northern Illinois Gas Company, Aurora.

"They join leading business, farm education and civic organization—as well as leaders of both political parties—in supporting the new Revenue Article," Crowley said.

Among the organizations which have already endorsed the amendment are the Illinois Education Association, Illinois Agricultural Association, Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

Crowley said, "Everyone can agree our present revenue system is unfair and inadequate to meet the needs of a growing state."

"When bankers and educators, farmers and teamsters, Republicans and Democrats all agree on a constitutional change affecting our basic tax structure, the Revenue Article must make sense for the people of Illinois."

Pointing out that the proposed Constitutional article change is complex, Crowley summarized the proposed article in this way:

"It will prohibit absolutely a graduated income tax and will limit any other income tax that might ever be enacted in Illinois. It will limit increases in the tax burden of home-owners and make possible elimination of the sales tax on food and medicine. Finally, it will enable the legislature to abolish or reform the personal property tax."

$1,375 Contributed To Heart Fund By Antioch Twp. Residents; Local Chairmen Are Cited

Residents of Antioch Township contributed $1,375 to the 1966 Heart Fund of the Chicago Heart Association.

These contributions were part of the $54,315 collected by volunteers in Lake County. Altogether more than $1,272 million was raised in DuPage, Cook and Lake Counties, the three served by the Association.

Dr. Oglesby Paul, president of the Association, said that the contributions will be used by the voluntary health agency for research, education and community programs aimed at reducing deaths from heart and blood vessel diseases, the number one killers in the United States.

Mrs. Garfield Leaf, Waukegan, chairman of the Heart Fund of Lake County, said the fine results in Antioch Township were due to the excellent work of volunteers who headed the campaign there. She especially cited Mrs. Pauline Almgren, Box 270, RFD 1, community chairman and Mr. Brook, Fund treasurer.

Dr. Paul said that he was happy with the response shown by residents of the tri-county area.

"This shows that the people of our area realize the seriousness of cardiovascular diseases. Through their enlightened support, we at the Chicago Heart Association can continue the fight against these dread diseases which cause more than 55 per cent of the deaths in our country—almost a million last year."

In the Chicago area last year, Red Cross aided 4,029 victims of 562 disasters such as residential fires.

Plan Short Trips Too Say Co. Safety Men

Long distance trips are ordinarily well planned and safe. Short trips are usually unplanned and more dangerous.

The Lake County Safety Commission says, "Plan your trip even if its only to the local grocery store."

People who travel throughout Lake County, could find better and safer roads if they would only get a county map and do some planning.

State highways in Lake County are in poor condition and overcrowded, whereas most county maintained roads are wider, better marked, and maintained.

Grand Ave. and Belvidere Rd. have dangerous stretches and yet drivers will use them when going west through the county, when there is a shorter and much better route available.

Part of planning a trip, is to make sure your car is in good condition and even on short trips, use your seat belts.

Watch out for the other driver and drive as if your life depended on your ability as a safe driver, and it does.

The Lake County Safety Commission will be most happy to suggest safe routes to

FAMILIES SEE "GRADS"

Reunions of graduates with their families have been traditional since the first sheepskin was inscribed. There was nothing traditional, however, in the reunions grade and high school graduates had with their families recently in the Pontiac penitentiary.

Following their graduation ceremonies the men were greeted and congratulated by parents, wives, brothers and sisters in the Pontiac chapel—the first such reunion in a penitentiary in the history of Illinois.

There were 107 high school graduates and 31 who received diplomas for completing their grade school studies.

Ross V. Randolph, director of the Illinois Department of Public Safety and guest of honor at the graduation, termed the reunions one of the most "heartwarming events I've seen in my many years of association with the correctional system of Illinois."

Heat stress can be life-threatening to the farmer with a heart ailment, the Chicago Heart Association warns. Heat stress places demands on the farmer's heart above and beyond those imposed by the physical exertion of his work. Older farmers are advised to quit when the mercury threatens to hit 90.

Overweight multiplies the danger of heat injury tenfold, compared with the risk of a person whose weight is normal, the Chicago Heart Association points out. Farmers and others who must do hard physical work in the heat of the summer sun should keep their weight down.

Motor cycle and motor scooter accidents killed 69 persons on Illinois streets and highways last year. Nearly 2,500 were injured in accidents involving two-wheeled power cycles. Most accidents involved teen-age operators.

"Soul" is the subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy — "The Lord proveth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul."

Readings from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include this explanation: "The Divine Being must be reflected by man, — else man is not the image and likeness of the patient, tender, and true, the One 'altogether lovely'; but to understand God is the work of eternity, and demands absolute consecration of thought, energy, and desire."

The annual picnic, sponsored by the Antioch Moose Lodge, will take place on Sunday, August 21, at Lake Shangri-La. This is the same place that it was held last year, and the governor Richard Jorgensen is hoping for a better than a repeat performance of last year's success. There will be games and prizes, refreshments, swimming and fun and favors for young and old. All that is required is for the members to pack a lunch, get all their friends together and attend.

There is to be a 3rd District meeting held at the Crystal Lake Lodge on Sunday, August 14. A breakfast will be served from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m.

The Loyal Order is having an enrollment for new members with the serving of breakfast, at the Antioch Moose Lodge Sunday morning, August 28. The ritual team who will perform has not yet been determined.

The birthday dinner for the Loyal Order will take place following their regular meeting on August 24, at the Antioch Moose Lodge at 8 p.m. Members that have birthdays this month are the honored guests and are really missing a treat if they don't attend.

A Friendship meeting and pot luck dinner was held at the home of Gerry Mark on August 2 with over 20 members in attendance. Barbara Warner, chairman, discussed the plans for their future activities and following the meeting the ladies all took part in playing a game.

Dee Perry, who was the teacher for the Art Class that was held at the Antioch Moose Home last fall, was the guest speaker for the Officers Chapter night program held at the Antioch Moose Thursday evening, August 4. Mrs. Perry introduced all of her students who were just beginners in oil paintings and then displayed all of the pictures that have been painted during their art class. It was very hard for the co-workers to believe the students had never painted before upon seeing their pictures displayed.

Mrs. Perry is intending to start up another art class in the near future and I am sure that her class this year will be a much larger than the previous one.

Joan Toft, wife of the Mayor of Antioch, was enrolled as a new member on this evening with Gladys Schroeder as her sponsor. The next meeting of the W.O.T.M. will be held at the Moose Home on Thursday, August 18, at 8 p.m. sharp.

This year, being the Golden Anniversary for the Women of the Moose, Mooseheart is sending to each co-worker who sponsors two regular candidates a golden bracelet with a heart on it as their reward. For those who bring in 10 members, they will receive a watch.

A Garden Brunch, sponsored by the Library Committee, will take place at the home of Gert Good, on Tuesday, August 30, at 10:30 a.m. Anyone who wishes to attend can contact Betty Huxton, chairman of the committee, or any one of the ladies on the Library Committee.

A ritual practice for the W.O.T.M. will take place on Monday, August 15, at your Antioch Moose Home at 7:30 p.m. Every co-worker who takes part in the floor-work is urged to attend.

The Handbooks Session for the executive board for the W.O.T.M. will be held in Waukegan from 2 to 4 p.m. on August 14. Wilma Martinson of Chicago will be the president officer.

Special music was provided by Alvin Murphy on a portable organ on which he also accompanied group singing, and games were played in charge of Mrs. Bonnie Muffett, recreational director, and a pot luck picnic dinner was served by the women.

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the
ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A rose, we are told, by any other name would smell as sweet. In a sense, the law of Illinois agrees with Shakespeare.

To paraphrase the Bard, Joe the grocer, by any other name, is still the fellow who sells you groceries. The name has changed, but the man is the same.

A name is a symbol—a means of identification. So long as your intention is not to deceive, or avoid your legal obligations, Illinois law provides a simple and speedy procedure for changing personal names.

Petition Filed
The first step to acquiring a new name, is simply to let the public know about it by publishing a notice in the local newspaper. Next, a petition asking for a change of name is filed with the Circuit Court. No particular reason need be given for wanting to change your name; the fact that no one but yourself can spell the old name probably would be sufficient. The last step is a decree by the court announcing the official change.

There is no law in Illinois prohibiting a person from changing his name several times, although eventually a judge might question his motive.

Business Names
In order to protect the public the law is not so liberal with the use of names for business purposes. Imagine the confusion if there were three department stores, all with a similar name in one town. The first to use a business name usually is protected by the courts.

Corporations in Illinois must identify themselves with the familiar "corporation," "incorporated," or "company" after their name. Professional associations of doctors, dentists and other professional persons must include "associated," "association" or "and associates" following the name or names under which they practice, such as "Joe Doe and Associates."

These are but a few of the Illinois laws governing the use of names. As with all laws, their purpose is to protect the public—and that includes you.

INSTALLMENT PURCHASE CONTRACT? LOOK FOR A "CONFESSION CLAUSE"

Have you ever heard of a "confession clause"—otherwise known as a "statement of confession"?

Such a clause often appears in contracts with consumer finance companies for the purchase of jewelry, furniture, electrical appliances or other goods on the installment plan.

The "confession clause" means that you, the signer of an installment contract, agree that the creditor may bring suit against you in court without prior notice to you or service of a summons. The lender may obtain a judgment against you and perhaps a lien on your property without your being aware that you had been sued.

Many confession clauses provide that no action can be brought against you unless you are in actual default of your obligations under the contract. But some clauses permit the lender to file suit and obtain a judgment whether or not you have kept up your payments on schedule.

It is a device which permits the lender to protect his interest by obtaining some security, such as a lien, as an assurance that the debt will be satisfied.

The confession clause is perfectly legal under Illinois law, but it can become a source of trouble. Therefore, it is always wise to read the fine print of installment purchase contracts and to be

What's it like to belong to a community theatre group? Let's find out from PM&L's newest director, Lloyd Pedersen. He's directing and producing the next show at the Main Street Theatre, and he should know.

He could tell you that it's fun, entertaining, rewarding, interesting and all that, but you have heard that before. The honest-to-goodness facts are what you want. All right, he'll give you the facts, using Spoon River Anthology by Edgar Lee Masters as an example.

First of all, let's follow him through an ordinary rehearsal. He comes early to open the theatre and practice his own part in the production, then directs rehearsal for two or three hours, five nights a week.

Soon the other three actors arrive for their practice. They are Bob Thornley, Heather Hunley and Mavourneen Reardon, and have each been studying their many parts ever since South Pacific closed. And there is plenty for each of the four actors to do. There are 60 speaking parts in the show, and it is going to be extremely interesting to watch these four talented young people change from one character to another.

Also in the show are Sue Bushnell and Gary Strahan, who have their work cut out for them singing folk ballads, with Wendy Jensen as guitar accompanist.

But community theatre isn't just rehearsal and the action on stage. There are technical aspects to any show. If you follow the director, you may bump into Steve Kratz or Wayne Bentel, who are working out some very exciting lighting effects for Spoon River.

Of course, publicity, posters, and tickets are big jobs in themselves. Not only must the young people build a show, but they must also sell it, and this is why you'll see the director take off some time to explain a selling approach to Cindy Cross and Colleen Gross. The financial part of the show is in charge of Melonnie Jensen and Dave Bushnell. Joni Lang is busy preparing for the program - information deadline.

But nobody really minds being busy; if you work for any length of time in community theatre, as Eric Leavell and Jim Sorensen are doing on the scenery, you will agree that life can get pretty dull without it.

If you come later you are bound to see two important people in the production busily at work. Stage manager John D. Horton will be assisted by brother Jay and Marty Lusiak, while Nancy Seyfarth heads her own crew before, during and after performance as house manager.

The production of Spoon River Anthology is for two days, only—August 26 and 27. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The passing maneuver, is one of the most dangerous moves in traffic for all vehicles. For the motorcycle rider it can be a real accident trap unless he can see that the road ahead is clear. After passing don't cut back too soon.

Motorcycle riders should remember that compared to passengers in automobiles they have very little protection around their persons. To compensate for this lack of personal protection riders should wear safety helmets and leather clothing.

Chicago area youngsters enrolled in Red Cross Youth programs in 960 public, private and parochial schools made over 5,000 "friendship" boxes and bags for children in South Vietnam.

Offensively the Rifles boast Bill Bodie, former Washington Redskins at fullback, Bob Luckman of Highland Park at quarterback, Lew "Flinn, Ron Curry, Warren Nicholas, Jim Rednar, Lee Wahlgren, Don Schwab, John Patterson and Bob Cook are among the veterans from last year.

Ticket sales have been brisk, but seats are still available at the Saturday night contest. The U. S. Marine Corps will present the pre-game colors and half-time entertainment is planned.

Lifetime Membership Presentation Will Highlight Events Sunday At McHenry Sportsman's Club

After 25 years of membership in the club, Lewis Pitzen, well known sportsman and business man, will have his day when the McHenry Sportsman's club celebrates the event with a big shoot in his honor.

Sunday, August 14, is the day, and one of the highlights will be the presentation of a lifetime membership to him.

To make certain none of his many friends and acquaintances who wish to take part in the festivities are not disappointed, and for those who may not be able to attend the August 14 celebration, a repeat performance will be held on Sunday, Aug. 18th. Shooting starts at 11 a.m. and every contest in the books will be on the day's program.

The August 6th Jack Rabbit Shoot turned up some new names in the winner's column when Len Huhn, Ingleside, and Wallace Manz, Fox Lake, shot themselves in to a tie for first place in Class A with a score of 47. Joy Jarrett, Grayslake, came in second with 46. Huhn also took long run honors with 32. In the Lewis class, Harry Stern, Antioch, latched on to first place with 44 while Ed Koepke, McHenry, too second with 43.

CLEANING AGENT FUMES CAN BE POISONOUS

It's common knowledge that many household cleaning agents are poisonous if swallowed. But did you know that some also contain toxic fumes which can be just as disastrous?

Such cleaning agents are especially dangerous because their fumes are invisible and frequently odorless. And you don't necessarily have to be exposed to a strong concentration to suffer ill effects, for tests show that repeated short exposures to small concentrations can be just as disastrous.

How can you protect against the danger of poisonous fumes?

Read—and heed—warning labels on all cleaning agents before using them. Those with which you should be especially careful are:

Car-b-o-n tetrachloride—Since this chemical is not flammable, it is often used in paints, rubber cement, spot removers, etc. If inhaled, however, its fumes can cause severe coughing, nausea, headache, dizziness and possibly even death.

Benzene—Though benzene gives off a "pleasant" odor, it is one of the most dangerous of household chemicals. Commonly used in paints, varnish stains and adhesive cement, it takes less than a tenth of an ounce of this chemical in a 10x10x10 ft. non-ventilated room to produce ill effects.

Turpentine—A highly flammable solution, this cleaning agent is used primarily for thinning paint and cleaning brushes. The potential danger of turpentine depends on its chemical composition and how long and how carefully it is stored. But even if the concentration of its fumes are very small, repeated exposure could affect your kidneys. So when working with turpentine, use it outside or in a well-ventilated room. Above all, don't let brushes soak in it overnight in an open jar.

Menthanol—Another inflammable chemical, this cleaning agent is used for re-

Tips On Keeping Cool

In attempting to keep cool these hot summer days, many of the things we try may actually make us hotter, not cooler.

For example, do you know you'll be more comfortable if you

KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON. Lightweight clothing protects you from the direct rays of the sun and heat reflected off objects. Thus, your body absorbs only half as much heat as it would if you wore a bathing suit. It also absorbs perspiration, protecting you from irritating body salts contained in sweat.

BATHE IN LUKEWARM WATER. Water close to your skin's temperature is best suited to cool off your body. Hot water can give you an oppressive feeling of heat. Cold water, on the other hand, will increase your body's insulation by shrinking your blood vessels.

And remember: don't "overbathe." Frequent soaking in water dries out your skin and curbs perspiration—your body's built-in mechanism to keep you cool.

DRINK PLENTY OF LIQUIDS. On a really hot day, you can lose 15 quarts of water just through perspiration. So, the more you perspire, the more you should drink. But don't overdo it with iced drinks or alcoholic beverages. Often they'll just make you feel hotter.

AVOID THE BEACH. On very hot days, when the sun beats on the sand, temperatures at ground level can easily soar to 140 degrees. Although a dive in the surf may cool you off temporarily, the hot sun and sand may produce more heat than you can safely handle.

AVOID SALT TABLETS. Taken without medical supervision, salt tablets can lead to serious trouble. Don't worry about salt loss through perspiration. It can easily moving floor wax, grease and thinning paints. If you should work with methanol products, take periodic "breaks" to get fresh air. For this chemical's fumes, like those of carbon tetrachloride, can cause severe symptoms—coughing, hard breathing, mental confusion and loss of balance.

be restored by an extra sprinkle of the salt shaker at mealtimes.

SLEEP MORE. During hot weather, your heart and circulatory system works 50 percent harder, so extra rest is important. Try to sleep an extra hour during the hot weeks. If you find it difficult to sleep on hot muggy nights, put your mattress on the floor. The hot air will rise, leaving you surrounded by relatively cool air.

IMPROVE AIR CIRCULATION IN YOUR HOME. If you don't have an air conditioner, put a 12-inch fan on the floor during the day and let the breeze bounce off a far wall. At night, set it about three feet from an open window, squarely facing it and blowing out. In this way, the fan will blow hot air out and suck in cooler air through other open windows.

Before starting on that Vacation trip, make sure your tires, lights, wipers, steering and brakes are in good working order. Take along a first aid kit, emergency flares, a flashlight and make sure you have seat belts.

Dennis Burgan moved back into the winner's circle Saturday night at the Waukegan Speedway as he burst through the feature field and then held off the constant challenges of veteran Dan Kalous tangled on the backstretch and both lost control long enough to allow Norm Zenko to zoom into third spot. Kalous salvaged fourth and Kelly finished fifth.

Earlier in the evening Kelly had been the center of attention. In his qualifying time, easily snared the trophy dash and then was victorious over the sternest of competition in the fourth heat race.

Next Saturday night, there will be a Mississippi Mud race for the women drivers. The entire homestretch will be soaked with water before this event, and the ladies will race out of the fourth turn into this slippery surprise.

The Flying Frenchman, Jim Ouellette, came back from a serious looking accident last week to stop Whitely Harris' feature win streak at five Sunday nights. A deluge of rain around 6:30 p.m. threatened to halt activities at the track, but with the help of everyone in the pits, the track was made ready. The tricky track conditions did result in the postponement of the midseason championship events until next Sunday night, so a standard program was presented.

With track conditions improving steadily throughout the evening, the feature event got under way. The 50 lap feature will be contested next Saturday night with the regular admission prices prevailing. Only 33 points now separate Reimer and Harris in their torrid race toward the track championship.

Incoming Freshmen are asked to report for equipment on August 24 at 10:30 a.m. Boys are asked to bring shorts, T-shirts and football, baseball or tennis shoes for the pre-school football sessions.

Carmel's record since 1963 has been 20-6-2.

Boat Litterbugs Are Violators Of State Fishing Code; Warning Given By Dept. of Conservation

Cans, bottles, plastic or paper plates, broken glass and other debris are being discarded on beaches and sand bars, in waters of rivers and lakes, according to the Department of Conservation. In some locations, such as sandbars of the Upper Mississippi River that are active areas for boat canning, the accumulation of litter is not only a sanitary problem, it is a menace to safety and health.

It is a violation of Illinois Fish Code to throw, cans, bottles, broken glass, paper, wooden cartons or boxes and other material in any Illinois water or the ice, or in any place where such material may be shed into the water by winds or floods.

Department officials suggested that boaters dispose of trash by taking it home with them and placing it in the family garbage can.

Fewer Fish Killed
Fewer fish kills caused by pollution were reported in 1965 than in the previous two years, according to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Fishery biologists killed 19 fish on 98 ft. of stream and in 33 ac. of pond or lake waters last year. About 450,000 fish are killed. Twenty kills were reported in 1964. They lived 150 miles of stream and 200 acres of impoundment.

ers with almost four million fish being killed. In 1963, 800,000 fish died in 37 kills on 185 miles of stream and 376 acres of lake waters. Industrial wastes, untreated or improperly treated municipal sewage drainage from livestock feed lots, wastes from food processing plants and fertilizers draining from crop lands were the major causes of fish kills. Technicians have investigated five kills so far this year.

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the
ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A rose, we are told, by an other name would smell as sweet. In a sense, the law of Illinois agrees with Shakespeare.

To paraphrase the Bard, Joe the grocer, by any other name, is still the fellow who sells you groceries. The name has changed, but the man is the same.

A name is a symbol—a means of identification. So long as your intention is not to deceive, or avoid your legal obligations, Illinois law provides a simple and speedy procedure for changing personal names.

Petition Filed

The first step to acquiring a new name is simply to let the public know about it by publishing a notice in the local newspaper. Next, a petition asking for a change of name is filed with the Circuit Court. No particular reason need be given for wanting to change your name; the fact that no one but yourself can spell the old name probably would be sufficient. The last step is a decree by the court announcing the official change.

There is no law in Illinois prohibiting a person from changing his name several times, although eventually a judge might question his motive.

Business Names

In order to protect the public the law is not so liberal with the use of names for business purposes. Imagine the confusion if there were three department stores, all with a similar name in one town. The first to use a business name usually is protected by the courts.

Corporations in Illinois must identify themselves with the familiar "corporation," "incorporated," or "company" after their name. Professional associations of doctors, dentists and other professional persons must include "associated," "association" or "and associates" following the name or names under which they practice, such as "Joe Doe and Associates."

These are but a few of the Illinois laws governing the use of names. As with all laws, their purpose is to protect the public—and that includes you.

INSTALLMENT PURCHASE CONTRACT? LOOK FOR A "CONFESSION CLAUSE"

Have you ever heard of a "confession clause"—otherwise known as a "statement of confession"?

Such a clause often appears in contracts with consumer finance companies for the purchase of jewelry, furniture, electrical appliances or other goods on the installment plan.

The "confession clause" means that you, the signer of an installment contract, agree that the creditor may bring suit against you in court without prior notice to you or service of a summons. The lender may obtain a judgment against you and perhaps a lien on your property without your being aware that you had been sued.

Many confession clauses provide that no action can be brought against you unless you are in actual default of your obligations under the contract. But some clauses permit the lender to file suit and obtain a judgment whether or not you have kept up your payments on schedule.

It is a device which permits the lender to protect his interest by obtaining some security, such as a lien, as an assurance that the debt will be satisfied.

The confession clause is perfectly legal under Illinois law, but it can become a source of trouble. Therefore, it is always wise to read the fine print of installment purchase contracts and to be

What's it like to belong to a community theatre group? Let's find out from PM&L's newest director, Lloyd Pedersen. He's directing and producing the next show at the Main Street Theatre, and he should know.

He could tell you that it's fun, entertaining, rewarding, interesting and all that, but you have heard that before. The honest-to-goodness facts are what you want. All right, he'll give you the facts, using Spoon River Anthology by Edgar Lee Masters as an example.

First of all, let's follow him through an ordinary rehearsal. He comes early to open the theatre and practice his own part in the production, then directs rehearsal for two or three hours, five nights a week.

Soon the other three actors arrive for their practice. They are Bob Thomley, Heather Hunley and Mavourneen Reardon, and have each been studying their many parts ever since South Pacific closed. And there is plenty for each of the four actors to do. There are 60 speaking parts in the show, and it is going to be extremely interesting to watch these four talented young people change from one character to another.

Also in the show are Sue Bushnell and Gary Strahan, who have their work cut out for them singing folk ballads, with Wendy Jensen as guitar accompanist.

But community theatre isn't just rehearsal and the action on stage. There are technical aspects to any show. If you follow the director, you may bump into Steve Kratz or Wayne Bentel, who are working out some very exciting lighting effects for Spoon River.

Of course, publicity, posters, and tickets are big jobs in themselves. Not only must the young people build a show, but they must also sell it, and this is why you'll see the director take off some time to explain a selling approach to Cindy Cross and Colleen Gross. The financial part of the show is in charge of Melonnie Jensen and Dave Bushnell. Joni Lang is busy preparing for the program—information deadline.

But nobody really minds being busy; if you work for any length of time in community theatre, as Eric Leavell and Jim Sorensen are doing on the scenery, you will agree that life can get pretty dull without it.

If you come later you are bound to see two important people in the production busily at work. Stage manager John D. Horton will be assisted by brother Jay and Marty Lusak, while Nancy Seyfarth heads her own crew before, during and after performance as house manager.

The production of Spoon River Anthology is for two days only—August 26 and 27. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The passing maneuver is one of the most dangerous moves in traffic for all vehicles. For the motorcycle rider it can be a real accident trap unless he can see that the road ahead is clear. After passing don't cut back too soon.

Motorcycle riders should remember that compared to passengers in automobiles they have very little protection around their persons. To compensate for this lack of personal protection riders should wear safety helmets and leather clothing.

Chicago area youngsters enrolled in Red Cross Youth programs in 960 public, private and parochial schools made over 5,000 "friendship" boxes and bags for children in South Vietnam.

CLEANING AGENT FUMES CAN BE POISONOUS

It's common knowledge that many household cleaning agents are poisonous if swallowed. But did you know that some also contain toxic fumes which can be just as disastrous?

Such cleaning agents are especially dangerous because their fumes are invisible and frequently odorless. And you don't necessarily have to be exposed to a strong concentration to suffer ill effects, for tests show that repeated short exposures to small concentrations can be just as disastrous.

How can you protect against the danger of poisonous fumes?

Read—and heed—warning labels on all cleaning agents before using them. Those with which you should be especially careful are:

Carbon tetrachloride—Since this chemical is not flammable, it is often used in paints, rubber cement, spot removers, etc. If inhaled, however, its fumes can cause severe coughing, nausea, headache, dizziness and possibly even death.

Benzene—Though benzene gives off a "pleasant" odor, it is one of the most dangerous of household chemicals. Commonly used in paints, varnish stains and adhesive cement, it takes less than a tenth of an ounce of this chemical in a 10x10x10 ft. non-ventilated room to produce ill effects.

Turpentine—A highly flammable solution, this cleaning agent is used primarily for thinning paint and cleaning brushes. The potential danger of turpentine depends on its chemical composition and how long and how carefully it is stored. But even if the concentration of its fumes are very small, repeated exposure could affect your kidneys. So, when working with turpentine, use it outside or in a well-ventilated room. Above all, don't let brushes soak in it overnight in an open jar.

Menthanol—Another inflammable chemical, this cleaning agent is used for re-

Tips On Keeping Cool

In attempting to keep cool these hot summer days, many of the things we try may actually make us hotter, not cooler.

For example, do you know you'll be more comfortable if you...

*KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON. Lightweight clothing protects you from the direct rays of the sun and heat reflected off objects. Thus, your body absorbs only half as much heat as it would if you wore a bathing suit. It also absorbs perspiration, protecting you from irritating body salts contained in sweat.

*BATH IN LUKEWARM WATER. Water close to your skin's temperature is best suited to cool off your body. Hot water can give you an oppressive feeling of heat. Cold water, on the other hand, will increase your body's insulation by shrinking your blood vessels.

And remember: don't "overbathe." Frequent soaking in water dries out your skin and curbs perspiration—your body's built-in mechanism to keep you cool.

*DRINK PLENTY OF LIQUIDS. On a really hot day, you can lose 15 quarts of water just through perspiration. So, the more you perspire, the more you should drink. But don't overdo it with iced drinks or alcoholic beverages. Often they'll just make you feel hotter.

*AVOID THE BEACH. On very hot days, when the sun beats on the sand, temperatures at ground level can easily soar to 140 degrees. Although a dive in the surf may cool you off temporarily, the hot sun and sand may produce more heat than you can safely handle.

*AVOID SALT TABLETS. Taken without medical supervision, salt tablets can lead to serious trouble. Don't worry about salt loss through perspiration. It can easily be restored by an extra sprinkle of the salt shaker at mealtime.

*SLEEP MORE. During hot weather, your heart and circulatory system works 50 percent harder, so extra rest is important. Try to sleep an extra hour during the hot weeks. If you find it difficult to sleep on hot muggy nights, put your mattress on the floor. The hot air will rise, leaving you surrounded by relatively cool air.

*IMPROVE AIR CIRCULATION IN YOUR HOME. If you don't have an air conditioner, put a 12-inch fan on the floor during the day and let the breeze bounce off a far wall. At night, set it about three feet from an open window, squarely facing it and blowing out. In this way, the fan will blow hot air out and suck in cooler air through other open windows.

Before starting on that Vacation trip, make sure your tires, lights, wipers, steering and brakes are in good working order. Take along a first aid kit, emergency flares, a flashlight and make sure you have seat belts.

Dennis Burgan moved back into the winner's circle Saturday night at the Waukegan Speedway as he burst through the feature field and then held off the constant challenges of veteran Dan Kalous tangled on the backstretch and both lost control long enough to allow Norm Zenko to zoom into third spot. Kalous salvaged fourth and Kelly finished fifth.

Earlier in the evening Kelly had been the center of attention. In his qualifying time, easily snared the trophy dash and then was victorious over the sternest of competition in the fourth heat race.

Next Saturday night, there will be a Mississippi Mud race for the women drivers. The entire homestretch will be soaked with water before this event, and the ladies will race out of the fourth turn into this slippery surprise.

The Flying Frenchman, Jim Ouellette, came back from a serious looking accident last week to stop Whitey Harris's feature win streak at five Sunday night. A deluge of rain around 6:30 p.m. threatened to halt activities at the track, but with the help of everyone in the pits, the track was made ready. The tricky track conditions did result in the postponement of the midseason championship events until next Sunday night, so a standard program was presented.

With track conditions improving steadily throughout the evening, the feature event got under way. The 50 lap feature will be contested next Saturday night with the regular admission prices prevailing. Only 33 points now separate Reimer and Harris in their torrid race toward the track championship.

Boat Litterbugs Are Violators Of State Fishing Code; Warning Given By Dept. of Conservation

Cans, bottles, plastic or paper plates, broken glass and other debris are being discarded on beaches and sand bars, in waters of rivers and lakes, according to the Department of Conservation. In some locations, such as on sandbars of the Upper Mississippi River that are attractive areas for boat camping, the accumulation of litter is not only a sanitary problem, it is a menace to safety and health.

Department officials suggested that boaters dispose of trash by taking it home with them and placing it in the family garbage can.

Fewer Fish Killed

Fewer fish kills caused by pollution were reported in 1965 than in the preceding two years, according to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Fishery biologists investigated 19 kills on 98 miles of stream and in 33 acres of pond or lake waters last year. About 450,000 fish were killed. Twenty kills were reported in 1964. They involved 150 miles of stream and 200 acres of impounded waters with almost four million fish being killed. In 1963, 800,000 fish died in 37 kills on 185 miles of stream and 376 acres of lake waters.

Industrial wastes, untreated or improperly treated municipal sewage drainage from livestock feed lots, wastes from food processing plants and fertilizers draining from crop lands were the major causes of fish kills. Technicians have investigated five kills so far this year.

The star-spangled street where you live

You can't always see the stars and stripes on the homes and apartments in your neighborhood, but they're there just the same.

A big percentage of American families own U.S. Savings Bonds. Many of these star-spangled families have been buying Bonds since they were first issued 25 years ago.

Altogether, Uncle Sam has sold $150 billion in E and H Bonds. About $100 billion of these have been cashed in for college, retirement, new furniture, emergencies, and down payments for those homes.

Americans still own a nest egg of nearly $50 billion in Bonds for tomorrow's needs. And as the nest egg grows, Uncle Sam uses the dollars to help support our fighting men in Vietnam—and help keep our economy strong.

You can help make Uncle Sam's future, and your own, more secure by joining this star-spangled savings plan. Why not start now? Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work, or buy Bonds regularly at your bank.

NOW SAVINGS BONDS PAY 4.15%!

Interest on new E and H Bonds you purchase has been raised to 4.15% when held to maturity. E Bonds mature faster—now in just 7 years. Your old Bonds will earn more, too. Savings Bonds are better to buy, and hold, than ever.

A.C.H.S. Band To Compete At Fair

The Antioch High School Band will go to Springfield in August to compete at the 1966 State Fair High School Band Contest.

Antioch's band will be one of forty-nine high school concert bands from throughout the state who will compete. The contest will begin at 9 a.m. August 15 to 19.

Schools competing are divided into five classes, according to the size of the student bodies: AA, schools 1,501 or over; A, schools 551 to 1,500; B, schools 236 to 550; C, schools 151 to 235; and D, schools under 151.

Tuning, arrangement of chairs and other criteria will be used for the judges' (three ratings based on 30-minute performances. Ratings of Superior (I), Average (II) and Undeveloped (III) will be given, according to George W. Patrick, who has been superintendent of the contest for 31 years.

Group I and II bands will receive medals and trophies and the most outstanding band in each class will be presented the Governor's Award. A Grand Trophy will be given the most impressive band in the contest.

Tips On Aging Gracefully

Learning to grow old gracefully is likely to be more valuable than seeking a fountain of youth. Here are some tips from the American Medical Association to help accomplish this:

Exercise regularly. It can be as vigorous as a game of badminton or as mild as an evening walk. But whatever exercise you choose, do it regularly. You'll have better muscle tone, better digestion, circulation, and respiration and relief from tension.

Eat intelligently. As the body ages it needs less food (fewer calories). Continue to eat a balanced diet of meat and meat products; milk and milk products; fruits and vegetables; and breads and cereals. But watch the volume.

Stay slim. You'll look better and probably live longer. Statistics indicate a 13 per cent increase in death rate for people 10 per cent overweight, higher for those more grossly overweight.

Regular health checks. Serious illnesses can often be controlled or prevented by early medical care.

PHILATELIC SHOW

Special frames depicting the design and development of the recently issued commemorative circus stamp will be displayed at the Illinois State Fair by the United States Philatelic Agency.

A special mailing facility operated by the Post Office Department in connection with the show will issue Illinois State Fair postmark cancellations for anything mailed from the fairgrounds during the 10 day exposition.

Yorkshire Farm Hogs Win (Honors) at Co. Fair

Prizes and honors garnered by Imperial Yorkshire Farm hogs at the Lake County Fair last week add a new chapter to the breeding success enjoyed by Paul Sedar, of Old Mill Creek and Wadsworth.

Sedar, who is perhaps best known as Chairman of the Illinois Racing Commission under former Gov. William G. Stratton, has an international reputation as a geneticist because of his success as a producer of luxury mink on his Imperial Mink Ranch at Wadsworth.

Honors captured by Imperial Yorkshire hogs will serve to enhance this reputation since he is a partner in the herd with Cecil Isbell, the farm manager.

Imperial stock produced the Champion Boar and Champion Barrow in the 4-H Club division of the county fair being exhibited by Larry Isbell, son of the farm manager.

The younger Isbell also captured ribbons for the Champion Gilt, Champion Heavyweight Barrow, Champion Litter, and Champion Barrow, overall breeds, in the 4-H division.

Imperial Yorkshires also took Reserve Grand Champion Boar and Reserve Grand Champion Gilt during the five day event in the open class.

Livestock from the farm have also been prepared for showing at the Kenosha County Fair, the Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin State fairs.

Local Actors In "Most Happy Fella"

Four of the members of the cast of "Most Happy Fella," currently at Mr. L's Carousal Theatre in Waukegan, are familiar to Antioch area residents.

Three have appeared in PM&L productions — Gerri Duncan, Marie Jasien and Glen Morgan. Seven-year-old Tom Duncan is making his stage debut in the production.

Mr. L's Carousal theatre is housed in a large tent in the Grand Avenue shopping plaza. The audience surrounds the stage on three sides.

"Most Happy Fella" is a musical comedy with a poignant story. The play ran last week end and will play again August 4 through 7.

Gerri Duncan will be remembered by Antioch audiences from her roles in "Guys & Dolls," "Elves and the Shoemaker" and "A Thurbur Carnival" at the PM&L Theatre.

Marie Jasien has appeared in "Music Man," "Little Mary Sunshine," and "Gold in the Hills."

Glen Morgan has been in the Antioch area for about a year. He was active with the Hull House Theatre in Chicago, and has appeared in Antioch high school productions of "Smilin' Through" and "The Mouse That Roared," also in PM&L's production of "Little Mary Sunshine."

Chris Fournier of Lake Villa also appears in the play.

Foreign Bodies Cause Respiratory Illness

Parents take note: If your youngster under three suffers from a persistent cough, or recurrent croup-like infections that respond only temporarily to antibiotics, or from wheezy breathing, the symptoms may very well be caused neither by virus, germ nor allergy. They might, rather, be due to the little one's having swallowed something fascinating like a clothespin spring or nickels and dimes left about the house.

This alert comes from Drs. Walter M. Glass and Merrill Goodman of Long Island, who reported to fellow-physicians that nine youngsters thought to be suffering from serious illnesses were found to have swallowed oddments of this and that which caused the alarming symptoms.

According to the physicians, six of the patients experienced absolutely no difficulty in swallowing and the three who did apparently were not bothered enough to complain. After the foreign bodies were removed, the doctors noted, all respiratory symptoms subsided completely.

Awards For Reporting

Certificates of Appreciation were recently issued to 598 volunteers who furnish information to the Crop Reporting Service of the Illinois and U. S. Departments of Agriculture.

These volunteer reporters furnish facts and figures for use in official estimates of the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service.

Certificates are being issued to 462 reporters for reporting for 10 years; 72 for 20 years; 31 for 30 years, and one for 50 years.

For many, crop reporting is a family tradition. Often a son succeeds his father as a reporter after taking over operation of the farm.

Crop reporters have been called "the intelligence service of agriculture." The information they supply gives them, and agriculture in general, an up-to-date picture of crop and livestock prospects in the state and nation.

The year 1966 is the 100th anniversary of nationwide and livestock reporting. Statistics on major crops, livestock, agricultural prices and wages of farm labor have been published continuously since 1866.

Weddings

A surprise bridal shower

was given for Carol McCarthy of McKinley Dr. on July 31 by Terry Christaens of Grayslake, Ariene Dvorak of Lake Villa and Janice McCarthy of Lake Villa, sister of the bride-to-be. About 30 friends and relatives of both families attended the shower at Miss Christaens' home.

Miss McCarthy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCarthy of McKinley Dr., Lake Villa. Her groom-elect is William Heigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heigel, 1018 Normandy, Lake Villa. The young couple are to be married Aug. 27 at 2 p.m. at Prince of Peace Church. Bill is a machine accountant in the Navy, and is stationed on a ship in Charleston, S.C., that doesn't leave port.

Barbara Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wolfe, 1219 Honey Lane, Lake Villa, will become the bride of Robert Samuelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Samuelson, San Rem Ave., Lake Villa, at the 11:00 Mass at Prince of Peace Church on August 27. A reception for the family and wedding party will be held at the Rustic Manor Restaurant.

Bob is stationed in Texas, but expects to be home on a 30 day furlough this weekend. He expects to be sent to Germany when he returns. Miss Wolfe plans to follow him later.

Hoaxes Plague Coast Guard

"Mayday, Mayday—Am in yacht about 40 miles offshore and sinking fast. Send help."

Immediately upon receiving this radio message, the U.S. Coast Guard Rescue Coordination Center in Cleveland dispatched a cutter, an airplane, and two patrol boats to aid the stricken craft.

Hours of fruitless searching later, the officer on duty determined that the call was a hoax—one of the many that plague the Coast Guard every year.

So far this year alone, the Ninth Coast Guard District, which encompasses the Great Lakes, has had six of these bothersome and highly dangerous calls. Four of the hoaxes were perpetrated in southern Lake Michigan and two in Lake Erie.

Each one necessitates the waste of many manhours of labor and many taxpayers' dollars.

In this case alone, the cutter, patrol boats, and airplane expended a total of 252 manhours covering a total of 2,500 square miles—all of it wasted.

Yet the Coast Guard must continue to send craft out to investigate every call for aid it receives, for the vast majority of them are urgently, vitally real.

One of the great tragedies of these false assistance requests is that they might be endangering the lives of those really in distress on the Lakes. Hoaxes cause the tie-up of men and materials that would otherwise be available to answer other—real—emergency calls.

Federal law is quite explicit on false emergency calls. The Communications Act of 1934 specifically states that "No person within the

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE SELLS DAIRY QUEENS AT LOCAL EVENTS

American Field Service Organization thanks the PM & L for allowing them to sell Dairy Queen refreshments during the intermissions of the successful run of South Pacific the past two weekends. The opportunity gave a big boost to the growing fund for the expenses of obtaining a foreign exchange student for the coming school year.

This week AFS students and adults are busy preparing mingles, dilly bars, and Dairy Queen sandwiches to sell during Maxwell Street days on August 4, 5, and 6, in front of Lyons and Ryan Ford showroom.

The Dairy Queen trailer will also be present at the Lions Club Bar-B-Q and Summer Festival on August 7th at the swimming pool.

Once again the organization wishes to say "hat's off" to T. E. Cardwell, owner of the Antioch Dairy Queen, for donating the Dairy Queen products and use of the trailer to AFS for 100% profit on sales until their goal is reached.

Final papers and arrangements are now being negotiated for the foreign exchange student and definite news should be available by next week.

AFS News

The A.F.S. (American Field Service) foreign exchange student arrives in Antioch the end of August. She is Miss Diana Maria Stagg, 18, of Guayaquil, Ecuador. Diana's American family will be the Walker Lyons family of 433 Winsor Drive, Antioch.

The A.F.S. Dairy Queen trailer sales have been very successful, thanks to the generous customers and hard workers at the American Legion Carnival, P.M.&L.'s production of South Pacific, Maxwell Street Days and the Lions Club Farmers' Picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cardwell of the Antioch Dairy Queen will have the A.F.S. Club's eternal gratitude for donating the products sold.

Attention Antioch High School Students: The A.F.S. Club would like all the R. C. Cola and Diet-Rite "Save-a-Seal" bottle caps you can get people to save for the A.F.S. fund. Call Gary Strahan, 395-1111, Chris Ann Fohrner, 356-5106, or Pat Lombardo, 395-4068 when you have 25 or more "Save-a-Seal" bottle caps from R. C. Cola or Diet-Rite Cola.

If you are going to pull a trailer on that vacation trip, remember it requires different driving methods. Unless you are accustomed to towing a trailer, it's a good idea to practice on an empty parking lot before starting that tour.

perpetrators.

No one knows for certain who these callers are. Some of them appear to be ignorant of even the most basic facts of boating, such as the number of digits in a boat registration number. In other cases, it appears that the callers were children using "walkie-talkie" sets.

Other calls may well have been sent out on Citizen's Band radios, and "walkie-talkies," to friends in jest, little realizing that the conversation could be intercepted by others, sometimes at extended ranges, and the serious consequences that may result.

Eliminating these time-and-effort-consuming hoaxes is at best a hard task, but one that urgently needs doing to make boating safer and more pleasant for everyone. The cooperation of all persons in using radio equipment carefully will contribute toward that end.

Abbotts Now Selling Two New Drugs

Abbott Laboratories has anti-cancer activity was discovered, Dr. Robert J. Stein directed animal tests to confirm the anti-cancer activity of the chemical and its relative safety for use in advanced cases.

Tradenamed Verecye, and known generically as pipobroman, the drug was announced to the press last December in response to inquiries while a New Drug Application for it was pending with the Food and Drug Administration. The application now becomes effective, and the drug is being marketed generally to the medical profession.

Five years of clinical testing by the Midwest Cancer Chemotherapy Group have shown the therapeutic effectiveness of Verecye in polycythemia vera and chronic granulocytic leukemia.

In polycythemia vera, of which there are about 5000 new cases annually, the number of red corpuscles and the total blood volume increase markedly. Chronic granulocytic leukemia is often characterized by an abnormal increase in the number of white blood cells; there are approximately 3500 new cases annually.

The drug is effective when taken by mouth and is supplied in tablet form. It is available only on prescription.

The compound was synthesized in 1952 by an Abbott research team including Bruce W. Horrom and Dr. John A. Carbon. After its

"Willing Water Week" To Advance Knowledge On Water Utilities

Governor Otto Kerner has designated the week of August 14 as Illinois "Willing Water Week." The proclamation is in association with the efforts of the Illinois Section, American Water Works Assn. and its activities in advancing the knowledge of design, operation and management of water utilities.

"Willing Water Week" is sponsored by more than 22,000 water utilities in the U.S. and Canada. J. M. "Pete" Whisler, chairman of the Illinois Section AWWA, in applauding Gov. Kerner's issuance of the Willing Water Week proclamation, said that public awareness of the need and cost of good water service must be increased.

"Far too frequently," Whisler said, "we take good water for granted. Willing Water Week '71 will, we think, focus attention on the accomplishments as well as the needs of water utilities."

ACT Calls For Tax Ceilings

The Association of Collective Taxpayers of Lake County is circulating petitions calling for action on six propositions.

Five of the petitions ask that ceilings be placed on five taxing bodies of County Government: The Public Building Commission Rental Fund; the Tuberculosis Sanatorium Fund; The Board of Health Fund; the County Bridge Fund, and the County General Fund.

The sixth petition asks for the return of the Township Collector. If enough signatures are filed with the County Clerk, these six propositions will be placed on the November ballot.

Representatives of the Association say the ceilings asked will not curtail existing County Board operations, and will not place a hardship on the County to maintain its present level of governmental services. The ceilings, will, however, give the people of Lake County the right to decide by referendum whether the County Board any of these areas beyond any of these areas beyond the ceilings set by these petitions.

on June 10, 1966 approving said Petition. Said Petition was thereafter referred to the Board of Higher Education of the State of Illinois for a determination as to whether or not the proposed Class I junior college district was in conformity with a comprehensive junior college program.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education of the State of Illinois, by an order entered July 12, 1966, approved the request for a new junior college and made a determination that the proposal to organize the territory hereinabove described into a Class I junior college was in accordance with the prayer of the Petition and was in conformity with a comprehensive junior college program.

Thereafter, the Illinois Junior College Board prepared a report of such action on said Petition containing a statement of the reasons for said decision, and the basis upon which the State Board deemed it possible for the proposed district to provide a desirable two-year college program at reasonable cost, the conditions under which said operation would be possible, the estimated results of such operation in terms of local taxes, the nature and probable cost of alternative methods of providing adequate junior college educational opportunities for students in the territory involved and other information helpful to the voters in such territory in voting on the proposition to establish a Class I Junior College District. A copy of said report is now on file in the office of the Illinois Junior College Board and a true and correct copy thereof is on file and available for public inspection in the respective office of the County Superintendent of Schools of Lake County, Illinois.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing on the aforesaid petition and on the said report of the Illinois Junior College Board relating to the proposed Junior College District will be held in the Auditorium of the Libertyville-Fremont High School District No. 120 (otherwise known as the Mundelein High School), located at 1350 West Hawley Street, in the city of Mundelein, Illinois, on the 17th day of August, 1966, at 7:30 o'clock P.M., and at such hearing the Illinois Junior College Board, or a hearing officer appointed by it, shall proceed to hear the

Any resident within said territory above described or from any school district affected thereby, may appear in support of said Petition or to object thereto. Govt. Workers Outnumber Others

The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois reports that figures at the end of April indicate that there is one Federal government employee for every sixty-seven Americans.

Figures in the "Monthly Tax Features" of Tax Foundation, Inc., indicate that Federal civilian employment increased by 33,464 in April.

Another point of particular interest in the report was that between June, 1962, and June, 1964, employment in the lower four grades (also lesser paid) declined by 38,000, while employment in the higher grade professional levels increased by 51,000.

Federal, state and local government civilian workers numbered more than the workers in any one trade or industry, except those in durable goods.

The Taxpayers' Federation concluded that constant surveillance is necessary in all levels of government, so that non-essential jobs can be eliminated.

District No. 36, in the County of Lake, State of Illinois.
